Art Unit: 1712

The rejections under 35 U.S.C. 112, 1st paragraph stated previously are hereby withdrawn in view of Applicant's remarks.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Applicant contends that the skilled artisan would appreciate that "low molecular weight" in the context of reporting a "low molecular weight cationic polymer fluid loss additive" would correspond to those polymer materials generally having a molecular weight below about 5,000,000. Applicant has provided no supporting documentation that verifies that this seemingly arbitrary number is the widely accepted ceiling on low molecular weight materials of this type.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3, 17, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Qu et al., U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2003/0019627 for the reasons outlined previously.

Art Unit: 1712

Applicant's argument appears to indicate that "cationic fluid loss additive" connotes an additive that limits fluid loss by a specific mechanism. In this connection, it is implied that the fluid loss additive taught by the reference inhibits fluid loss by a different mechanism.

The Examiner is unaware of the distinction that Applicant is trying to make. For the purpose of evaluating the claims against the prior art, the term "cationic fluid loss additive" has been interpreted as embracing any compound that is (i) cationic in nature and (ii) is capable of fluid loss inhibition. The surfactants described by Qu meet both of these criteria and, hence, all of the limitations of the claim would be satisfied. If, in fact, the aforementioned term refers to cationic compounds that prevent fluid loss by a specific mechanism that differs from that exploited by the corresponding compound(s) of the prior art, Applicant should furnish evidence that the surfactants cited by the Examiner would not be encompassed by "cationic fluid loss additive".

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-3, 6, 8-9, and 11-12, and 14-16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 1712

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
